TRANSFORMING LEADERSHIP: From Competition to Community

SEPTEMBER 1, 2010
10am-2pm

Geneva Center – Presbytery of Wabash Valley

Key to leadership for the church is the fostering of a collaborative atmosphere in which trust and mutuality exist. Such a climate is a prerequisite for creative ministry and transformative change. Transforming leaders model the church's deepest vision of its calling and cultivate a common life that embodies the gospel.

Considering the role, thought, behavior, and skills of transforming church leadership, you will --

- ❑ Be introduced to a leadership system that promotes an open and collaborative climate throughout your church body.
- ❑ Engage in a self assessment of your leadership behavior
- ❑ Identify growth areas and supports for addressing them

This workshop will introduce you to transforming leadership practices, and provide you with practical tools to strengthen your own leadership.

What will happen in this workshop:

Introduction to Transforming Leadership:

- The Leadership challenge and opportunity
- Assessing your leadership behavior

Faithful and Fruitful Leadership

- A theology of leadership
- Cause and Effect Factors
- Four Systems of Leadership

Strengthening your Leadership behavior

- The Supportive leader
- Focusing on transforming six key leadership behaviors

"The purpose of leadership in the missional church is to form a "community of the kingdom," a company of God's people whose very way of relating to and caring for one another demonstrates what life is like inside the reign of God."
